Location
Virginia International University is located in the heart of Fairfax in Northern Virginia, only 12 miles away from the nation’s capital.

Airports
Because of VIU’s proximity to Washington, D.C., you can choose between two airports: Dulles International (IAD) in Virginia and Ronald Reagan National (DCA) in Washington D.C. Both airports have connecting highways and public transportation links with the City of Fairfax, home of VIU.

Metrorail
Situated in the City of Fairfax, VIU is only six miles away from the Vienna (Virginia) Metro Station at the end of the Washington, D.C., Metro “Orange Line.” This train line is part of the 103-mile Metro rapid transit subway system that serves the entire Washington Metropolitan Area, including Northern Virginia and suburban Maryland.

Metrobus
VIU students can take advantage of the local area’s CUE bus system, which serves Fairfax City and the surrounding area. CUE buses also provide a quick link to the Vienna Metro Station. From the Vienna metro station, take the CUE bus “Gold 2” and get off at the Jerman-town Road and Main Street intersection. Our campuses are located within walking distance from the bus stop and each other.

Program Descriptions

Graduate Programs
Our graduate programs provide a high level of professional education and cover a broad range of subjects, thereby qualifying students for more diverse job opportunities after graduation. Graduate degrees are earned by completing the program course requirements of 36 credit hours, with three (3) credit hours per course.

Undergraduate Programs
An undergraduate degree in business or computer science is earned by completing the program minimum course requirements of 120 credit hours. Normally courses, including the General Education Courses (GEC), are three (3) credit hours.

Certificate Programs
A certificate program is a set of courses that will provide you with the necessary skills to begin a career, advance in a current position, or promote professional growth. Certificate programs require a total of 18 (graduate level) to 24 (undergraduate level) credit hours, and typically can be completed within two semesters.

Language Programs
The English as a Second Language Program at VIU provides quality English language instruction for students whose native language is not English. The program focuses on helping students develop sufficient language proficiency and skills for successful study at an American university or college. The program also prepares students for the TOEFL examination.

Continuing Education Programs
Continuing Professional Education Series (CPES) programs provide "real world" training for career professionals. Best of all, we can provide CPES programs when you need them, where you need them, and how you need them. We can arrange your hotel accommodations, transportation, meals, and even optional sightseeing for your during your visit to the Washington, D.C. metropolitan area.
